

Australian Network for Plant Conservation Conservation Techniques Workshops

28th February and 1st March 2003

Nationally and internationally renowned specialists in conservation of Australia's flora, ecological communities and habitats will conduct a series of Conservation Techniques Workshops on 28th Feb and 1st March 2003.

Around 20 on-site and field based workshops will be held (see provisional program).

Presenters include researchers and practitioners from conservation agencies, botanic gardens, research institutions, zoos and community groups from across Australia.

Don't miss out on this unique opportunity to participate in these quality workshops.

These workshops are supported by the Australian Government Envirofund.

ANPC CONSERVATION TECHNIQUES WORKSHOPS PROVISIONAL PROGRAM

Friday, 28 February 2003

	Stream 1	Stream 2	Stream 3
8:00 - 8:30	Registration
8:30 - 8:50	Introduction to ANPC Conservation Techniques Workshops
9:00 - 10:30	Seed Dormancy and Germination	Assessing Rarity and the Risk of Extinction	Introduction to Practical Botany
10:30 - 11:00	Break
11:00 - 12:30	Seed Storage and Gene Banks	Ecological Genetics	Plant Propagation for Conservation
12:30 - 1:30	Lunch
1:30 - 3:00	Producing and Using Seed	Rare Plant Translocations	Field Trip to Victoria's Open Range Zoo
3:00 - 3:45	Break/Poster Session		Interpretations Grassland Reconstruction
3:45 - 5:00	Plant Translocation and Revision of the ANPC Guidelines

Saturday 1 March 2003

	Stream 1	Stream 2	Stream 3
9:00 - 10:30	Cryptogam Survey	Grass Identification	Conservation on Private Land
10:30 - 11:00	Break
11:00 - 12:30	Mycorrhizal Fungi	Multi Species Recovery Plans in SA	Ecological Fire Management
12:30 - 1:30	Lunch
1:30 - 3:00	Orchid Conservation	Reconstructing Grassy Communities	Regional Networks
3:00 - 3:30	Break
3:30 - 5:00	ANPC response to Global Strategy for Plant Conservation. Panel question session and conference summation.

Please note: This program is provisional and may change at the discretion of the conference program committee.